Read on to find out some of the most important statistics when it comes to the number of unlocked phones in relation to the effects that it has on the mobile telecommunication market and benefits that it has for the user.

In 2011, the number of cell phones in the U.S. exceeded the number of U.S. citizens.

Unlocked Phones Aren't A Rarity Anymore

- ▶ Without counting the number of unlocked phones from 2012 – 2014 when it was made illegal in the US to unlock the phones issued by the carrier, the unlocked smartphones made up 9% of total smartphone volume in the US in 2015
- ▶ The number of unlocked iPhones sold in the US in 2015 reached 1.8 million, a significant increase from 0.7 million sold in 2014
- ▶ Just for reference, the percentage of unlocked smartphones available for purchase in 2015 has risen by 140% (14.6 million) when compared with 2014

BENEFITS OF UNLOCKED PHONES

Even though there has been much controversy about the topic, unlocking your cellphone is perfectly legal, and there has been a growing trend in the number of unlocked phones available on the market.

- ▶ Out of all the phones available, GSM phones are most frequently and easily unlocked
- ▶ All that you need to change the service from one carrier to another is to swap SIM cards, all while maintaining your data, contacts and subscriber information
- ▶ Swapping SIM cards especially comes in handy when you are travelling abroad and you want to avoid international roaming costs
- ▶ You are not contractually bound to a single carrier for any number of years
- ▶ You can resell your phone for a higher price

People tend to be very loyal to their carriers and many never realize their smartphone is locked.

The problems arise when they try to sell their phones, and in most cases, the #1 complaint buyers have is that their SIM card is not compatible with their new phone.

THERE'S A LIMIT TO THE NUMBER OF PHONE-UNLOCKS YOU CAN GET!

AT&T ALLOWS A MAXIMUM OF FIVE PHONE UNLOCKS
PER YEAR FOR EACH CONSUMER ACCOUNT.

FORMER AT&T CLIENTS GET A TOTAL OF FIVE UNLOCKS.

COMMON CARRIER REQUIREMENTS

- ▶ The account must be held with the carrier in question
- ▶ The account must in be good standing
- ▶ Phones that remain under contract or have been lost or stolen are not eligible for carrier unlock services
- ▶ Phones purchased at full price can be unlocked with printed proof of purchase
- ▶ Military members can get their phones unlocked before the end of a term contract if they provide proof of deployment. However, T-Mobile forbids unlocking the phone until the standard 30-day Buyer's Remorse has ended

GSM vs. CDMA UNLOCKS

- ▶ Every GSM phone can be unlocked. However, some carriers may install additional software limiting usability of certain features, such as GPS, Wi-Fi, or cloud storage
- ▶ CDMA phones can be unlocked through the process known as "flashing", which involves uploading software to rewrite the information on the cell phone
